

Halloween has been done to death!

Halloween has swallowed up All Hallows - a day dedicated to remembering those who have passed away has been eclipsed by a celebration of horror. Not ones to dwell on the macabre, the Purleigh Bell has decided to go against the grain and celebrate Hallowtide instead, albeit with Mexican influences.

From October 31st - Nov 2nd we will dust down the old record player found in the pub and invite everyone to bring along old records. It is a duke box with a difference - creating a blast from the past celebrating good old fashioned memories. It's a low-key event with meaning, it would be great if you could join us and help make it a weekend to remember!
